Name of Activity

Traditional Chinese Art - Paper Cutting

Objectives

- Introduce the world of traditional Chinese paper cutting.
- Enhance children's creative potential and improve their fine motor skills.

Brief Description

Teachers and students reviewed the storybook "King Who Loves to Stamp" which features various traditional Chinese houses and introduces different window decorations used in these houses. Then we demonstrated the fascinating art of paper cutting to showcase the delicate process of creating window decorations from paper, which is not merely a form of art but also a traditional method of enhancing the environment in Chinese culture. During group activities, each student was encouraged to try paper cutting and these paper cutouts were proudly displayed within the classroom.
